STUDENT RESOURCES FOR FINDING NEW SCENES--MONTHLY ASSIGNMENT:

  All students who participate in the On-Camera Scene Study classes are expected to bring in at least one scene EVERY month, though more are certainly welcome. Bringing in scenes is a very important part of the On Camera class. First and foremost, you get used to reading scripts so that you begin to be able to distinguish good scripts and well written scenes from the stuff that is poorly written. Secondly, all of the students benefit from fresh material coming in.

When you find something good, email Bob to see if he already has it. If he does not, your next step is to download it and send it to Bob at Mcandrewstudio@aol.com as a .doc in PROPER SCREENPLAY FORMAT. If you do not know what that is, please ask.

  Ideally scenes should be a decent length (3-7 pages), two characters (or 3, if someone can step in briefly as a waiter or some such). They don't just have to be something you could play (although this is certainly a good way to find good parts for yourself) but they shouldn't be a couple of twelve year olds or octogenarians as we will rarely have anyone in the studio who is right for those roles.

  This is a win/win for everyone in the McAndrew Studio. We get to work on fresh material! We get used to reading screenplays/television scripts, Bob has more diverse options to choose from to give the students challenges and Bob is challenged as well, by working on fresh material.

Remember: if there are parts that you want to get practice working on this is a great way to do just that!

  Any questions, feel free to ask. Below is our current list of resources. There are certainly more. If you find another plentiful source, please let us know so that we can keep the most up-to-date list in circulation. Thank you in advance for your great scene contributions!
